

Newsletter 21st December 2022

Dear parents and carers,

I couldn't resist writing to you again to say thank you very much for all the gorgeous gifts, cards and really meaningful messages that we have received. It is such a pleasure to serve as Head of School in such a generous and supportive community and I know all the staff feel the same way.

This has been a short but fabulous week in school which began with the launch of our new termly Celebration Assembly. Some children received awards for reading 15, 25 or 50 books this term. The Golden Pencil Award was also given to those children who have made a special effort with their writing this term and our new Disciple Award was bestowed on those children who have lived the Gospel's teachings all term. It was also lovely to applaud all our children who have represented the school this term at the various sporting events we have participated in.

We finished today on a prayerful note by reflecting on the true meaning of Christmas. In the final week of Advent, we are called to reflect upon Our Lady and Joseph's example of how to respond to God's calling to think and act differently in order to accommodate Him in our lives. In the busyness of the end of term and amongst the last minute preparations for Christmas, it can be all too easy to miss the call from God to welcome Him in. Let's hope that we can all do that.

Merry Christmas!

Mrs Grace

Head of School
